Cover Page

Upcoming Features:

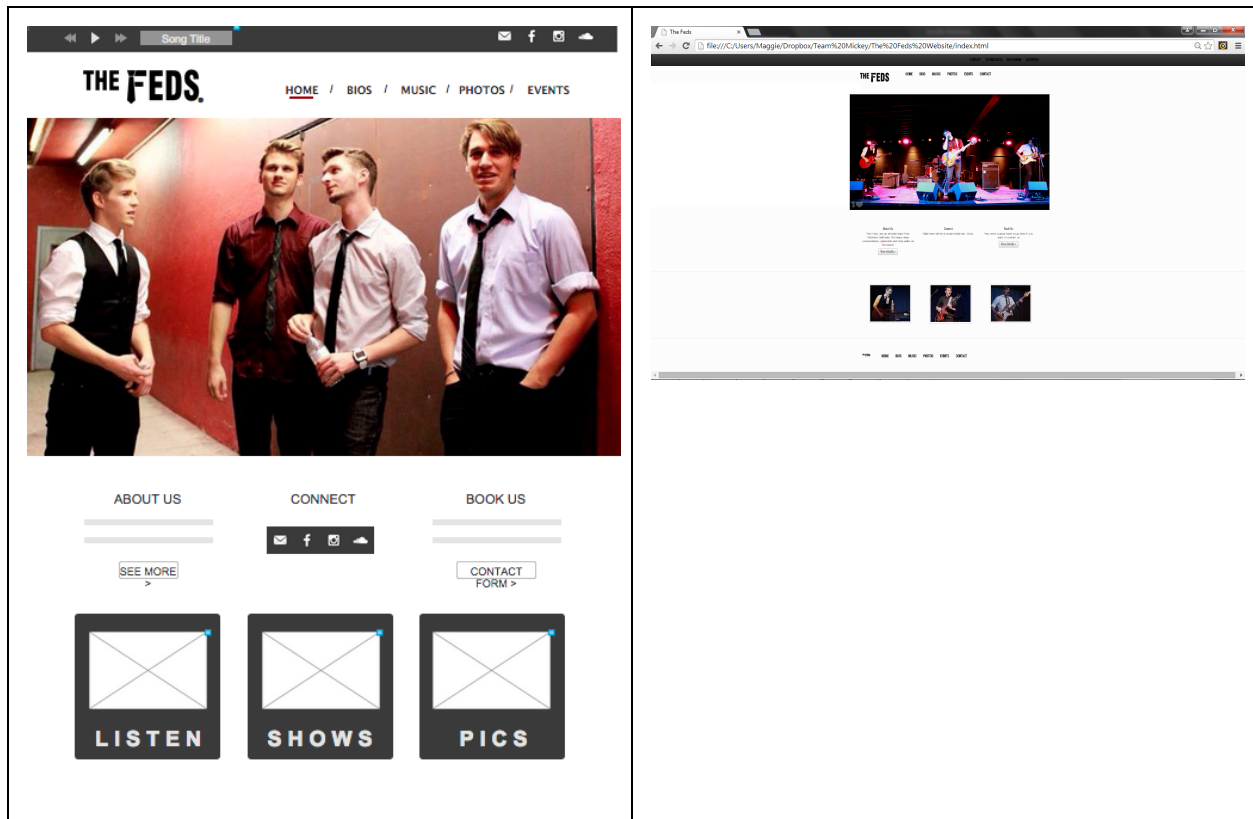

Most of the coding and design skeleton is finished, so we mainly need to tweak the layouts, change the content, and add correct functionality. The lightbox and hover over effects still need to be fixed. Overall spacing, iconography, and colors still need to be polished. One of the main features we are missing is graphics. The Feds have promised to do a photoshoot this Thursday so we hope to obtain high quality images from that. Meanwhile, we have put placeholder images throughout the site. On the homepage, we plan to have three images that will have rollovers that will show what part of the site they link to. Another feature that is uncertain is social media icon bar, in both the black top navigation bar and in the Connect section on the Home page. We plan on picking out attractive social media icons to replace the text links that are currently in place. We also need to polish the main navigation bars, to ensure that they don't take up extra space above the fold. Finally, we are lacking some of the content on the site. We planned to do individual interviews with each of the band members, but so far, only one of them has completed our questions.

Fallback Plans:

In case we do not get all the images we hope for, we plan to create some of them. For the rollovers on the homepage, we will create images that fit the pages we are planning to link to, rather than using the low quality images that are currently being used as placeholders. If complex functionality doesn't work, we will strip down to basic functionality without losing the integrity of the site.
